CollecTin More

Device overview

The CollecTin More is a versatile contactless donation device that can either be used portably or secured for unattended use. The device is a composition of different parts: CollecTin provide the hardware, Give A Little provide the software (a donations app pre-installed on the device tablet), and SumUp provide the merchant account (a bit like a bank account; SumUp is the company that processes payments and deposits funds into your church's bank account).

- Connectivity: an internet connection is required at the point of making a donation, either by connecting to WiFi or using a SIM card. CollecTin supply the devices with pre-installed SIM cards that can be activated at a cost of £42+VAT on an annual basis.
- On-screen Gift Aid declaration capture: donors can make a Gift Aid declaration on the device.
- Securable for self-service use: the device can be secured either with the secure mount or a Kensington-style lock. The latter will be provided for you; you can purchase the mount for an additional cost from CollecTin.
- Transaction fees: SumUp charges between 1.1–1.3% on contactless donations (depending on card type; 1.95% for online donations).
- Customisable screen layout: the screen can be customised to change the donation amounts displayed and also personalised with images/videos.
- Online giving: Give A Little can also be used for online giving, meaning that once you have set up an account for contactless giving you can also use the same account to collect online donations. For the latter, you may wish to connect Stripe as an additional payment processor for cheaper transaction rates (1.1% for online giving). Find out more by clicking here.
- No ongoing costs: There are no mandatory ongoing monthly costs for using the device (beyond SIM card charges, for those who choose to activate the SIM). The Premium version of Give A Little is currently provided free of charge, subsidised by the National church. Should this change in the future, you can choose to use the free version of Give A Little (with reduced functionality) if you prefer.
